UNIVERSITY POLICY CONCERNING VULNERABLE POPULATIONS

1. The University attributes great importance to the respectful treatment of every person and every affiliation group, and takes a severe view of any discriminatory or offensive attitude on the part of University employees and/or students.

2. The University believes that special protection should be extended to vulnerable populations such as minors, disabled persons, the helpless, wards, minority groups and persons who are exposed to harms such as sexual harassment, bullying, exploitation etc.

3. The University seeks to prevent harm to the protected populations, and maintains various mechanisms for the prevention, reporting and treatment of manifestations thereof.

4. A person who considers himself and/or any other person to have been harmed as stated in this document is requested to contact the bodies specified below for further investigation and treatment, according to the area of expertise of each body.

5. Additional information is available on the websites of the University as updated from time to time.

COMMISSIONERS FOR THE PREVENTION OF SEXUAL HARASSMENT

6. There are two University Commissioners for the Prevention of Sexual Harassment: one from the academic staff, and one from the administrative staff, as well as deputy commissioners who are located throughout the various campuses.

7. The Commissioners are responsible for disseminating information for the purpose of prevention, investigation and handling of complaints about sexual harassment and persecution stemming from sexual harassment or from a complaint about sexual harassment.

8. The Commissioners and their deputies undergo at least 18 hours of training that deals with the nature of the position, familiarization with the law, means of prevention and of handling complaints, as required by law.

9. The University has enacted Regulations for the prevention of sexual harassment which are published in three languages (Hebrew, English and Arabic) for each University community and on a website dedicated to this subject: https://hatrada.huji.ac.il.

10. The Regulations regulate various subjects, including the requirement to report sexual harassment or persecution, and the disciplinary action in such cases.

11. The University community is required to participate in an e-training session on the subject of sexual harassment. Any member of the University community who does not complete the e-training session is subject to sanctions, as determined by the University.

12. The Commissioners prepare an annual report describing the various actions that were adopted to prevent sexual harassment at the University, the number of complaints that were submitted and how they were handled, without identifying particulars. The report is submitted to the President of the University, the Rector and the Director General, and an annual discussion of the Report is held by the Management Committee and the Standing Committee of the University with the participation of the Commissioners. In addition, the report is submitted to the Council for Higher Education, to the Authority for the Advancement of the Status of Women and to the Committee for the Advancement of Women and Gender Equality in the Knesset.
