Welcome Message

Jerusalem, December 2021

Dear colleagues and friends, peace scholars around the world,

The 10th Annual Eurasian Peace Science Conference will take place on January 13, 2022, in a virtual platform (through zoom), from 8:00 AM to 10:00 PM GMT/UTC time, under the title of “Peace Science in Times of Pandemic”. The Conference will include nine paper panels and five roundtables, as well as a plenary session addressing the relevance of peaceful change in our turbulent times. The Conference will honor the memory of Dr. Olga Vorkunova.

The Conference is sponsored by the Leonard Davis Institute for International Relations at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Israel, in cooperation with the Israeli Association for International Studies, the World International Studies Committee (WISC), the Global Research Network on Peaceful Change, and Peace Science Society (International).

The Conference’s goals are to broaden cooperation and intellectual dialogue among Eurasian, Middle Eastern, and Global North and Global South peace science scholars, to encourage the fruitful interaction with the worldwide peace science community, and to bring together the most updated and relevant research on conflict and peace-related topics throughout the entire world.

In the Conference we will have the participation of about one hundred scholars, both senior and junior Faculty and graduate students from Argentina, Brazil, Cyprus, France, India, Germany, Israel, Italy, Japan, Kazakhstan, The Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Russia, South Africa, Sweden, Taiwan, Turkey, Ukraine, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

The sessions of the Conference will be recorded for the benefit of the Peace Science community, and they will be available through YouTube to watch them later.

Looking forward to meeting all of you (in Zoom) next January!

Best of all and keep safe and healthy,

Prof. Arie M. Kacowicz,
Academic Convenor,
Department of International Relations,
Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Israel

Instructions

To facilitate a broad and open dialogue worldwide, there is no registration fee for the Conference due to its virtual nature in these extraordinary times. Hence, peace scholars and students around the world will be able to access free of charge all the sessions of the Conference through Zoom.

In order to participate in the Conference, please pre-register by filling the relevant information in the following link:

<https://forms.gle/yntBMCKrNebbvYdC8>

The deadline for registration is December 31, 2021. Upon registration, you will receive the relevant Zoom links to access the Conference.

Paper presenters are expected to send their papers to the Chairs/Discussants by December 31, 2021.

You can contact us through davis.inst.conf@mail.huji.ac.il if you have further questions.

Best of all,
The Academic Committee

העמותה הישראלית ללימודים בינלאומיים
The Israeli Association for International Studies

The Israeli Association for International Studies (IAIS) is an independent and apolitical association, which encompasses academic staff, researchers, practitioners and research students from Israeli higher education institutions from different subfields of international studies, including diplomacy, foreign relations, national, regional and international security, peace and conflict, international political economy, international law, integration and regional cooperation, globalization, global governance, comparative politics, international organizations, diplomatic history, human rights, regional studies. URL: <https://www.iais-il.org/>

World International Studies Committee

WISC is an association of national and international professional associations dealing with all aspects of international studies. Its goal is to bring together scholars working on different aspects of international studies. WISC is the sum of its member associations. Its mission can be described in five points: 1) To spread and share knowledge and expertise about international studies in all parts of the world, 2) Facilitate the creation of global and regional contacts among scholars, 3) Provide a direct access for younger scholars and those in early stages of their careers to be exposed to senior colleagues and research outlets from all parts of the world, 4) Create a setting for initiation of local and regional networks of scholars in the Global South, and 5) Sustain these networks and other forms of cooperation with the help of the WISC. GLOBAL RESEARCH NETWORK ON

PEACEFUL CHANGE

The Global Research Network on Peaceful Change (GRENPEC) is a newly established research network organized by a group of leading scholars and prominent institutions worldwide, focusing on the study of peaceful change at the international, regional, and domestic levels. It conceives the notion of peaceful change varying along a continuum from minimalist conceptions stressing international change and transformation without the use of military force and war, to maximalist ideas that entail not only the absence of war, but also the achievement of sustained non-violent cooperation for creating a more just world order. The goal of the network is to encourage scholars to engage these two challenging topics together, especially the causes, sources, mechanisms and consequences of peaceful change at the international, regional, and domestic levels. URL: <https://www.grenpec.com/>

The Peace Science Society is an independent, non-profit organization supervised by a Council of officers elected from and by the membership. These include President, President-Elect, and eight Councilors. Elections are held on an annual basis. The day to day affairs of the Society are managed by the Executive Director together with an Executive/Editorial committee. Business meetings take place at designated annual conferences of the Society. URL: <https://peacescience.unt.edu/>
